FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Film Crew Filming at Space Coast Regional Airport on Friday

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (April 7, 2005) – Space Coast Regional Airport (TIX) and the Valiant Air Command Museum will turn into a movie set on Friday, as a film crew converges on the airport for a full day of shooting. The crew of primarily University of Central Florida Film Department students will shoot a portion of an independent short film at the airport and museum.

Producer Johnny Sawyer and writer/director Charlie Moss were drawn to Space Coast Regional by the Valiant Air Command Museum, which provides the perfect backdrop for their World War II romance.

The majority of filming will take place in and around the Valiant Air Command Museum; however, one of Space Coast Regional Airport's runways is scheduled to be shutdown for approximately 1.5 hours to shoot some scenes.
